

Article Link

<http://www.afronline.org/?p=17916>

Interview with Esther Duflo: Fighting worms to fight poverty

According to Esther Duflo what we need is “a pragmatic change of direction”. Duflo, 39, is the director of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's (MIT) Action Poverty Lab and is considered by the Economist to be one of the most influential “economic thinkers” of today's world.

July 27, 2011