

Article Linkhttp://www.huffingtonpost.com/ann-mei-chang/why-we-love-science_b_11197022.html

From the Huffington Post Blog: Why We Love Science

Some of the smartest people in the world are thinking about international development. But we have to make sure their good ideas don't get stuck inside the ivory tower. USAID helps scientists bridge the gap between their research and implementation on the ground. Recently, a group of researchers funded by USAID's Development Innovation Ventures program studied community health worker recruitment.

July 26, 2016