

Article Link

<https://www.nytimes.com/2018/09/11/opinion/is-cash-better-for-poor-people-than-...>

IPA Research on Cash Benchmarking in Rwanda Featured in the New York Times

In the New York Times Fixes Column, Marc Gunther writes about an IPA study on cash benchmarking in Rwanda. The study compared how a standard WASH and nutrition program compares to just giving people cash, measuring impacts on indicators of poverty and malnutrition. While that column was released before the results were out, you can read Gunther's reflections on the implications of the results on his blog, here.

September 19, 2018