What Works Global Summit

From September 26th-28th, the What Works Global Summit was held in London to promote evidence-based policy and share new evidence, experiences, and best practices. The event was attended by IPA's Pace Phillips, Sebastián Chaskel, Doug Parkerson, Juan Manuel Hernández-Agramonte, Agnese Carrera, and Elizabeth Koshy. Elizabeth participated in a panel discussion on "Evidence-based financial development in developing countries," where she highlighted examples of IPA's work with financial institutions, governments, and nonprofits to design and test innovative solutions to address key challenges in improving access to finance for SMEs.
