J-PAL and IPA's Evidence in Financial Inclusion Week Twitter Chat

On October 31, J-PAL's Finance Sector and IPA's Financial Inclusion Program co-hosted a Twitter chat as part of the Center for Financial Inclusion's Financial Inclusion Week (#FinclusionWeek). We invited people on Twitter to ask us anything about the evidence in financial inclusion, and we received questions on a range of topics. We answered questions about studies in the Philippines, evidence on expanding financial education among disadvantaged populations, digital financial services, microcredit, and more. For those who missed it, we recapped the conversation here so you can catch up and reference some of the resources we shared.
